EDUCATION

- Ph.D. University of California at Santa Cruz, 1982, from the Program in the History of Consciousness with Parenthetical Degree Notation in Anthropology (Advisers: Hayden White and Gregory Bateson; thesis committee: James Clifford, Shelly Errington, Triloki N. Pandey, Thomas Rohlen, Michelle Zimbalist Rosaldo)
- M.A. California State University at San Francisco in Modern European History. Vartan Gregorian, adviser
- B.A. University of California at Berkeley in History. Adviser: Robert O. Paxton

PUBLICATIONS

Since 2002 I have participated in and/or organized several workshops sponsored by Sokendai Graduate School for Advanced Studies. The workshop proceedings are circulated as working papers for the Archives & Oral History Study Group and the Peace & War Study Group.

Beamtimes and Lifetimes: The World of High Energy Physicists (Harvard University Press, 1988) Paperback edition published in 1992 and reprinted in 1995. [Chinese translation, 2003.] Pp. 126 & 145-156, titled "Contrasts between Japan and the United States," reprinted in The 'Racial' Economy of Science, ed. by Sandra Harding (Indiana University Press, 1993; pp. 74-105 reprinted in The Science Studies Reader, ed. by Mario Biagioli (Routledge, 1999).

"Keizu to Nendaiki: Making History in Tsukuba Science City," City as Target, edited by Ryan Bishop and Gregory Clancey (Routledge, forthcoming)

"Generating High Energy Physics in Japan: Moral imperatives of a Future Pluperfect," in Training Scientists, Crafting Science: Putting Pedagogy on the Map for Science Studies, edited by David Kaiser [Chicago, 2006]

"How Modern Became Retro: an historical political economy of knowledge," for Doing Science + Culture: How Cultural and Interdisciplinary Studies Are Changing the Way We Look at Science and Medicine, edited by Sharon Trawee and Roddey Reid [Routledge, 2000]

Doing Science + Culture: How Cultural and Interdisciplinary Studies Are Changing the Way We Look at Science and Medicine, jointly edited with Roddey Reid [Routledge, 2000]

"Warning Signs: Acting on Images," in Revisioning Women, Health, and Healing: Feminist, Cultural, and Technoscience Perspectives, edited by Adele Clarke and Virginia Olesen (Routledge, 99)

"Iconic Devices: Toward An Ethnography of Physics Images," in Cyborgs and Citadels, edited by Gary Downey and Joseph Dumit (School of American Research Series, University of Washington Press, 1998)

"Unity, Dyads, Triads, Quads, and Complexity: Cultural Choreographies of Science" in a special issue of Social Text edited by Stanley Aronowitz and Andrew Ross (Winter 1996) [reprinted in The Science Wars, edited by Aronowitz and Ross for Duke Univ. Press, 1997]

"Kokusaika, Gaiatsu, and Bachigai: Japanese Physicists' Strategies for Moving into the International Political Economy of Science," Naked Science: Anthropological Inquiry into Boundaries, Power, and Knowledge, edited by Laura Nader (Routledge, 1996), pp. 174-197.

"Bachigai [out of place] in Ibaraki: Tsukuba Science City, Japan," in Technoscientific Imaginaries (Late Editions, vol. II) edited by George Marcus (University of Chicago Press, 1995)

"When Eliza Doolittle studies 'enry 'iggins," Technoscience, Power, and Cyberculture: Implications and Strategies, edited by Stanley Aronowitz, Barbara Marinsons, Michael

- Menser, and Jennifer Rich (Routledge, 1996) [sections published in Found Object, special issue on "Technoscience/ Cyberculture" (Issue 5, Spring 1995)]
- "Bodies of Evidence: Law and Order, Sexy Machines, and the Erotics of Fieldwork among Physicists," Choreographing History, edited by Susan Foster (Indiana University Press, 1995) [reprinted, in Portuguese, in Forum Danca Revista (No.3/4, ano IV, Janeiro 1994, pp. 31-42).
- Located Knowledges at the Intersection of Cultural, Gender, and Social Studies of Science and Technology, special issue of Configurations, coedited with Mario Biagioli and Roddey Reid (Winter 1994)
- "An Introduction to Cultural, Gender, and Social Studies of Science and Technology," Journal of Culture, Medicine, and Psychiatry, special issue on "Biopolitics: The Anthropology of the New Genetics Immunology, edited by Deborah Heath and Paul Rabinow (1993: vol 17, pp 3-25)
- "An Essay on Gender, Science, and Technology," Bulletin of the Institute for Women's Studies, Ochanomizu Women's University, Japan [in Japanese and English] (New Series No. 5, 1991) [published 1993]

Book Manuscripts in Draft

Building Big Science in Japan,

Who Knows? Crafting Cultural Studies of Physics, History, and Anthropology

Articles in draft:

- "Gendered Trust in the Glocal Politics of Science and Technology," for Sociotechnical Imaginaries: Cross-National Comparisons, edited by Sheila Jasanoff.
- "Embodied Narratives of Careers and Experiments in Physics," for special issue on physics cultures edited by Cathrine Hasse in the journal Science Studies [to be published 2010]
- "Exploring Research on Peace and War: Workshops of the Peace & War Study Group, 2005-2008," for Proceedings to be published by the Sokendai Graduate University for Advanced Studies.

"Global Futures Exchanges," for Imploding Experimental Systems, edited by Kaushik Sunder Rajan and Joseph Dumit

FELLOWSHIPS, GRANTS, AND HONORS

Visiting Researcher, Graduate University for Advanced Study [Sokendai], Japan, 2005-2006; March 2007, Summer 2007, December 2008.

Panel on my work at the American Anthropological Association Annual Meetings, 2005

Visiting Faculty, Kyoto University, Japan, January 2004

Visiting Researcher, Graduate University for Advanced Study [Sokendai], Japan, January 2004

Japanese Government Senior Scientist Grant for Research in Japan [used as Visiting Researcher, KEK National High Energy Physics Accelerator Organization] 1991, 1993-94, 1997-98 [6 months declined for health reasons] fall; summer 1999, winter 2000, 2001-02, summer 2003

Director, Center for Cultural Studies of Science, Technology & Medicine, History Department, UCLA, 1994-2000 [jointly with Professors Ted Porter and Mary Terrall]

University of California Humanities Research Institute and University of California at Los Angeles Humanities Consortium Grant for a workshop on historical changes in university curricula,

University of California Humanities Research Institute, Residential Fellow, January-June 1996

Visiting Scholar, Forschungsschwerpunkt Wissenschaftsgeschichte und-theorie der forderungsgesellschaft wissenschaftliche neuvorhaben mbH, Berlin, Germany [declined]

UCLA Faculty Senate Research Grant, 1994, 1995, 1996, 1997, 1998

UCLA Center for the Study of Women Research Grant, 1994-5

Luce Visiting Professor, Five Colleges Women's Studies Center, South Hadley, MA, Fall 1993

Elected Fellow, American Anthropological Association, April 1993

Fellow, Center for Cultural Studies, Rice University, 1992-1993

Merton Award Honorable Mention, American Sociological Association, 1992

Visiting Scholar, Nara Women's University, Nara, Japan, May 1991

Visiting Associate Professor, Anthropology Department, University of California at San Diego, 1990

Rice University President's Fund for Research, 1988

Member, Scientia (Institute for the History of Science and Culture), Rice University, 1988-1993

Fulbright Senior Scholar Award for Research in Japan, 1986-1987

MIT Fund for the Humanities Grant for Travel to CNRS Conference, Paris, France, 1985

MIT Fund for the Humanities Grant for Japanese Language Instruction, 1985

Old Dominion Foundation Fellowship for Research, MIT, 1984

Danforth Fellowship for Graduate Study, 1975-1981

GRANTS WITH COLLEAGUES

Data Conservancy with Christine Borgman, UCLA Information Studies, to study the transmission of knowledge about large scale datasets across projects since 1970s, funded by NSF, 2009 for five years.

Workshop to be held May 2009 at UCLA on Dis/continuities: Nation-State Formation in Japan with Science, Technology, and Medicine during Imperialism, War, Occupation, and Peace, 1932-1962. Funded by the UCLA Terasaki Center for Japanese Studies and the Southern California Colloquium for the History of Science, Technology, and Medicine. Funding pending from Japan Society for the Promotion of Science and the UCLA International Institute.

Workshop to be held June 2009 in Washington DC on Women in Science in Japan, Scandinavia, and the US, funded by the Japan Society for the Promotion of Science. With Machi Dilworth, NSF, Ulf Melstrom, Lulea University, and Judy Franz, American Institute of Physics.

International symposium on digital archives and oral histories, held at Sokendai and KEK, Japan, [co-PI: Anne Gilliland, Information Studies, UCLA], funded by NSF 2007.

Collaboration for digital archives and oral history projects at Japanese physics laboratories. Proposal submitted to Japan Society for the Promotion of Science in Summer 2003; and funded December 2003; I have organized biannual workshops been held since 2003 at UCLA and in Japan. This grant also has supported my research in Japan, as well as 3 graduate students from UCLA and two postdoctoral researchers. A grant from NSF supported 10 US-based colleagues to participate in an August 2007 workshop/symposium I organized.

Collaborating Researcher on grant received by Professor Shigeru Nakayama from the Japanese Government of International Scientific Communication from Japan, 1997-1999

Co-Organizer, Residential Faculty Seminar on the new interdisciplinary studies of science, technology, and medicine, University of California Humanities Research Institute, Irvine. Eight faculty and two graduate students were in residence for six months, January to June 1996, to participate full time in the activities of the "seminar" which included monthly day-long colloquia with invited speakers from the US and Europe. [co-organizer: Roddey Reid, French Studies, UC San Diego]

Co-Organizer, Workshop on Located Knowledges, University of California Humanities Research Institute, Irvine, October 1994 [other co-organizers: Mario Biagioli and Roddey Reid]

Co-Organizer, Conference on Cyborg Anthropology, School of American Research, Santa Fe, New Mexico, 1993 [other co-organizers: Gary Downey and Joseph Dumit]

Co-Organizer, Conference on Located Knowledges: Intersections among Cultural, Gender and Social Studies of Science, April 1993, UCLA, funded by University of California Humanities Research Institute [other co-organizers: Mario Biagioli and Roddey Reid]

PENDING PROPOSALS and PROPOSALS in draft with colleagues

Proposal in draft to UC Humanities Research Institute Digital Initiatives in Participatory Teaching for a digitally linked course at UCLA and universities in Denmark, Greece, Mexico, & Sweden.

Proposal in draft to digitally archive 200 life history interviews collected in Europe, Japan, and the US 2005-2008. Proposal in draft to convene a summer school in Greece on collecting, interpreting, and archiving life histories of women scientists.

CONSULTING

Member, Advisory Group on Global Linear Collider, KEK, 2002.

Consultant, Science Policy Group, Iwate Prefectural Government, Japan, 2001 and 02.

Advisory Editor for The Science Studies Reader, edited by Mario Biagioli for Routledge Press, 1999.

NSF-supported project on "Curriculum Development in Cultural Studies of Science," Joseph Rouse, principal investigator, 1995-1998

NSF-supported project on "Constructing Engineers: A Participant-Observation Study of Undergraduate Engineering Education," Gary Downey, principal investigator, 1992-1996

Curriculum Development in Science, Technology, & Society for Crown College, University of California at Santa Cruz, 1983-1985

NSF-supported project on ethnography of engineering design, MIT, 1982-1984 PI: LL Bucciarelli

NSF-supported project on computer conferencing among scientists, Institute for the Future, Menlo Park, California, 1978-1979 PI: Robert Johansen

PROFESSIONAL EMPLOYMENT

Visiting Researcher, Sokendai Graduate University for Advanced Study, Hayama, Japan, intermittently 2002-2008.

Director, Center for Cultural Studies of Science, Technology & Medicine, History Department, UCLA, 1994-2000 [jointly with Professors Ted Porter and Mary Terrall]

Associate Professor, History Department and Women's Studies Program, UCLA, 1993-present

Luce Visiting Professor, Five College Women's Studies Center, South Hadley, MA, Fall 1993

Japanese Government Senior Scientist, KEK National Laboratory for High Energy Physics, Japan, January - August 1991

Visiting Associate Professor, Anthropology Dept., University of California at San Diego, January-July 1990

Associate Professor, Anthropology Department, Rice University, 1987-1993

Visiting Scholar, Program in Values, Technology, Science, and Society, Stanford University, 1984
Associate Professor, Joint Appointment, Program in Anthropology & Archeology and Program in Science, Technology, & Society, MIT, 1986-7; Assistant Professor 1982-86
Lecturer, Program in Values, Technology, Science, and Society, Stanford University, 1980-1981

TEACHING

In fall 2003 I jointly taught a seminar with two colleagues at Kyoto University; we had audio, visual, and computer links and our classes were held simultaneously at Kyoto and UCLA. 10 undergrads and 5 graduate students at UCLA; 15 undergrads and 10 international students at Kyoto.

I am preparing a preliminary proposal for the UC HRI participatory teaching initiative to teach a digitally linked course with colleagues in Denmark, Greece, Mexico, and Sweden. [It will be submitted by 15 October 2008.]

TEACHING EVALUATIONS

My teaching is consistently evaluated by students as very good to excellent; current reviews are available from the History Department at UCLA, the Anthropology Departments of Rice University, MIT, and UCSD, the Program in Science, Technology, and Society at MIT, and the women's studies program at Mt. Holyoke College.

Four graduate students with whom I have worked have received competitive awards at UCLA enabling them to teach undergraduate seminars of their own design.

COURSES

I focus on teaching comparative [transnational] courses on gender and science, "big" sciences, and science, technology, and society which explore the relations of culture, political economy, and research practices. Lectures and readings in my courses concentrate on the nineteenth and twentieth century. I have taught the following courses:

Research Seminar on Collecting, Interpreting, and Archiving Oral Histories
Power and Knowledge: 20C Cultural History of Knowledge Making [lower division]
20C Cultural History of the Triple Helix: Univ/Govt/Industry and Knowledge Making
(Undergrad/grad seminar)
20C Cultural Approaches to the History of Science, Technology, and Medicine
(undergraduate/graduate)
Big Science in the 20 C [upper division lecture course]
Contemporary History of the Physical Sciences (undergraduate seminar)
Contemporary History of the Social Sciences (undergraduate seminar)
Gender Studies of Science, Technology, and Medicine (graduate seminar)
History and Anthropology in the Study of Science, Technology, and Medicine (graduate)
Cross-cultural Studies of Elites: Strategic (Re)Production of Careers and Power (Undergraduate)
Cross-cultural Studies of Organizations in Japan & the US (Graduate & Undergraduate) Gender & Generation in Contemporary Japanese Cultures (Undergraduate)
Cross-cultural Studies of Lives: Autobiographies of Scientists & Engineers (Undergraduate)
Cross-cultural Studies of Sciences and Technologies (Graduate, Undergraduate)
Cross-Cultural Studies in Visual Representation as Evidence in Law, Social & Natural Sciences
(Undergraduate)

New Work at the Intersection of Cultural, Gender, and Social Studies of Science, Technology, and Medicine (graduate)
Proseminar on Contemporary Anthropologies in Several Nations (graduate)
Seminar on Anthropology as Cultural Critique (graduate)
Science, Technology, & Society in Western Culture (First year undergraduate)

UNDERGRADUATE theses research I have advised include the following topics: comparative ethnographic study of engineering workplace culture in Japan and the US, statistical study of political participation among American scientists; gender analysis of sociobiology; visual ethnography of MIT laboratories; oral history of elderly women in one family in China; ethnography of a physics group at MIT; science and colonialism in South Africa; appropriate technology as a social movement; science and new age movements in Houston; gender and epistemology in philosophy; science education in Los Angeles; women in the history of Santa Monica Airport.

I am very pleased that three people who once did undergraduate research projects with me are now faculty in the history and anthropology of science, technology, and medicine: Prof. Gabrielle Hecht, Michigan; Prof. Joseph Dumit, MIT; Prof. Atsushi Akera, RPI.

GRADUATE STUDENT and POST-DOCTORAL RESEARCH ADVISING

Although UCLA gives faculty no official 'credit' for serving on dissertation committees [as opposed to be a student's primary adviser] I am very pleased to be working with students who are not officially working on the history of science, technology, or medicine [and hence it would be inappropriate for me to be their primary adviser]. There are very, very few academic positions in this field [approximately 10-20 per year in the US]; I believe that the field is better served intellectually, academically, pedagogically, and institutionally by encouraging the sophisticated incorporation of these topics, modes of inquiry and interpretive strategies into research that would benefit from them. I also think that world histories of science, technology, and medicine will then be taught as part of the rest of the curricula, which I heartily encourage. The graduate student research projects for which I am serving or have served as an adviser or dissertation committee member include the following current and completed projects. [Regions of the world include Africa, Asia, Caribbean, Europe, North America, and South America.] Students who are not yet advanced to candidacy are not listed.

I am the primary host for Helena Pettersson, a post-doctoral researcher in anthropology and gender studies, Umea University, Sweden, visiting UCLA 2007-2009
